

Alice Home, Hints at Kip Ransom

Story on Page 3

WEATHER

Probably Showers

Tuesday

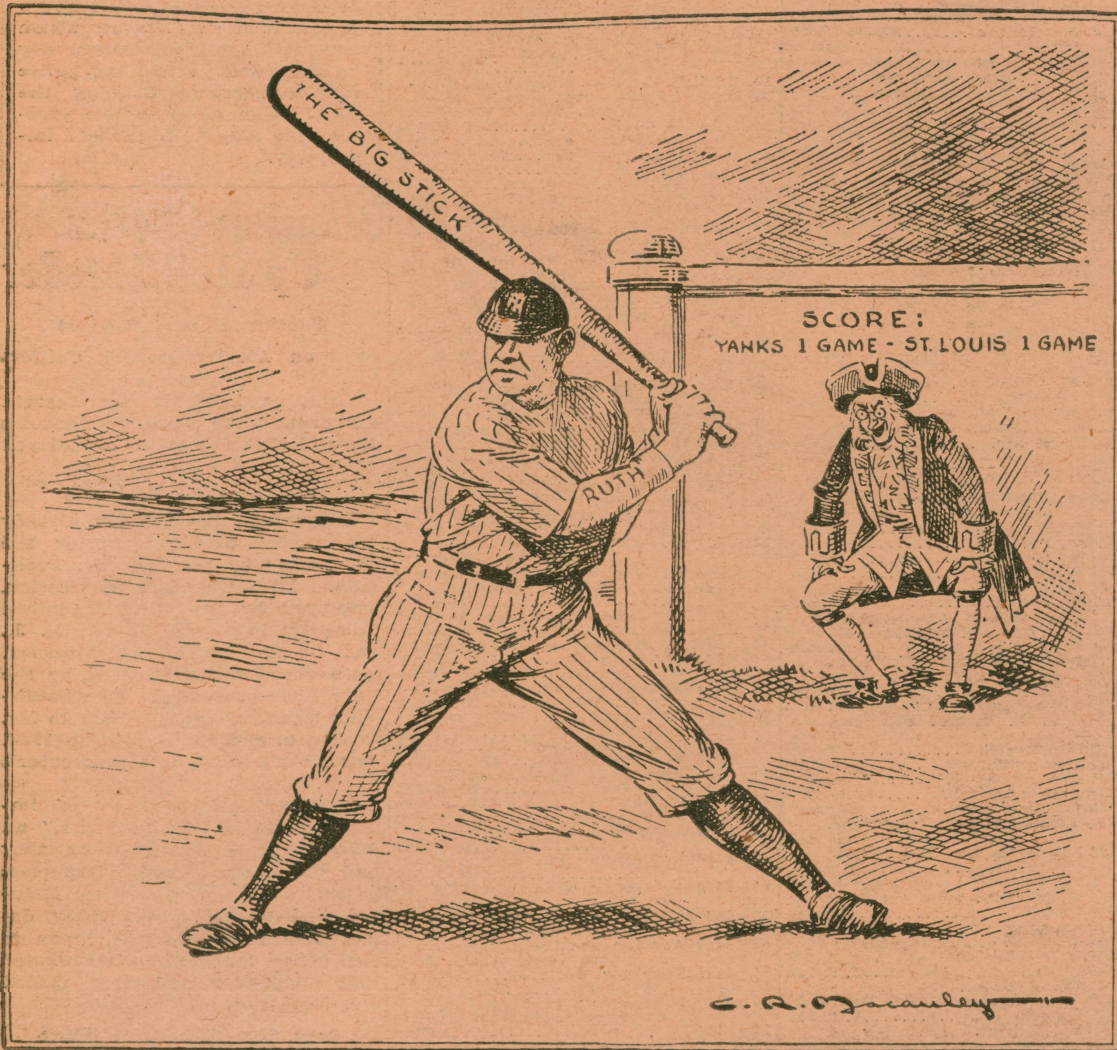

NEW YORK

October 5, 1926

EVENING GRAPHIC

Nothing but the Truth

YES, SIR! THAT'S MY BABE!

Up to the Wool Barons!

BERGEN county in New Jersey has just discovered that the Constitution of the United States means something. Norman Thomas, held under $10,000 bail for violating the sheriff's "riot law," has been discharged. So have several others, including the young but disillusioned fighting pacifist, Bob Dunn, who went to tell the Passaic strikers about the liberty for which our forefathers fought in 1776 and got locked up for doing it.

All that remains now is for the textile manufacturers to live up to their promise and recognize the organized workers. Before they were taken into the fold of the A. F. of L. the strikers were accused of being bomb-throwing bolsheviks. Now they have blossomed out as full-fledged members of the greatest labor organization on earth.

The GRAPHIC has watched this textile strike since last January, and takes pride in having brought it to the floor of the United States Senate through Senator Borah. Last week this newspaper called a halt to the practice of beating up the strikers who are fighting for their rights and a living wage.

The GRAPHIC now calls upon Col. Charles S. H. Johnson, vice-president of the Botany Worsted Mills, to show the first sign of common sense since this textile strike was started nine months ago, and recognize these workers and give them back their jobs.

Sufficient dividends have been declared in the textile trade to pay these strikers enough to buy their daily bread.

Transit Tangles

OFFICIALS are to confer this afternoon for the purpose of giving our city transit relief.

Longer trains and longer platforms to handle them will be considered. Everything that can be done to make travel easier should be done.

DOUBLE DECKING the subway and building DOUBLE DECK CARS is one practical measure that has never been seriously enough considered.

This sensible plan should have earnest attention.

There should also be provided SEPARATE EXITS AND ENTRANCES TO SUBWAY TRAINS. Much delay and most of the confusion of the present system is caused by travelers bound in opposite directions meeting head-on in narrow spaces.

The folly of such an arrangement can be seen by a child.

Perhaps it will some day penetrate the intelligence of those whose duty it is to care for the convenience and comfort of the public.

Great Thoughts of Great Men

To be great is to be misunderstood.—Emerson.

The world knows nothing of its greatest men.—Taylor.

Continual dropping wears away a stone.—Lucretius.

The things which must be must be for the best.—Lytton.

Tolerance

Tolerance is a virtue that may easily be carried too far.

Forgiveness is a virtue that may become a two edged sword.

The world has come a long way since the days when religious intolerance drenched the earth in blood and piled high the lighted fagots for the dissenter and heretic.

It has made great advancement over the days when men were drawn and quartered for petty offenses.

The battle for religious tolerance was long and costly.

The battle for medical tolerance bids fair to be just as long and almost as costly. The only difference is that we no longer burn heretics at the stake.

The victory of the forces of tolerance is one of the greatest victories of the spirit the human race has yet achieved.

There is still much intolerance in the world.

There is still religious intolerance, race intolerance, medical intolerance, political intolerance.

Tolerance is with us. We are learning more and more of its true worth.

Indeed, we are often prone to carry our tolerance too far. We do not always seem able to distinguish between what should and what should not be tolerated.

There are many things that should not be tolerated.

No people can afford to tolerate murder.

No community can long exist if it tolerates theft.

Political corruption cannot be tolerated.

Impurity, the kind that is beginning to eat the vitals out of a morally passive society, can be tolerated only at the expense of the community.

No toleration of any evil is good for the individual or society.

When we become too tolerant of evil, too quick to forgive and excuse, too ready to condone and pass over evil, we only encourage evil doers.

The more tolerant a people are of evil, the more evil will be among them.

There is a growing indifference among young people of today to political corruption.

They have grown exceedingly tolerant of many sex evils.

There is even an indifference to the reported wave of Sadism that is sweeping the country.

There is too much sentimental gush wasted over hardened criminals.

By all means let the spirit of tolerance grow and expand in those spheres where tolerance is justifiable.

But let us know what to tolerate.

We cannot tolerate a nest of vipers in our bosom.

Some things should be put down with an iron hand.

Intelligence should be mixed with the tolerant sentiment. It should not be permitted to degenerate into moral slothfulness.

Samuel Macfadden

WHAT HAVE YOU TO SAY?

All letters to the Editor must bear names and addresses or will not be published.

SLIDING DOWN THE LADDER

To the Editor of The GRAPHIC:—

It is really pitiful to see, hear and read of girls and women wasting away their lives in their insatiable thirst for forbidden pleasures. I know of a young woman who, because of this, lost a good husband. Girls and young women seldom realize the inevitability of their doom. They continue their sordid existence, disregarding living examples of the result. L. M. B.

1115 Bryant Ave., Bronx, N. Y.

RUDY'S INTERESTING DIARY

To the Editor of The GRAPHIC:—

Many thanks for Valentino's diary. It is being clipped and pasted assiduously by a host of readers. Also, you deserve great credit for pursuing the truth as to the cause of his death. The power of money plus influence presumably brought you up against the sort of wall presented by the Hall-Mills case for the last four years. What a disgraceful blot on the page of American justice that such things can be! For four reputable surgeons and a hospital staff to conspire in false diagnosis—one of them to state that the "actor's stomach was full of holes the size of a man's finger."

FLORENCE R. HUGLEN,
36 East 32d St.

(Other letters on Page 14)